

Tim O'Shea Introduction

Our speaker today (tonight) is a dynamic presenter with a unique background.

If you haven't seen his appearances on Comedy Central, Showtime, or the Tonight Show, it's because he's never had any.

Tim O'Shea is an award-winning keynote speaker and humorist with a background in organizational psychology.

During his corporate career, he was laid-off 4 times, survived 6 different mergers, and held 11 different job titles. This is why he works for himself now.

As “The Agent of Change,” Tim explains people’s behavior for a living. He presents at conventions and conferences internationally. In addition to his background in business management and organizational psychology, he has also trained with law enforcement professionals, Secret Service agents and officers from the CIA.

Here now to provide humor and insights on (Effective Leadership/Overcoming Resistance to Change/Why People Behave In Weird Ways), please welcome...The Agent of Change, Tim O'Shea.